

FROM THE PRINCIPAL

Dear members of the Lisieux community,

What a term it has been! Today we are having a very special day celebrating Pyjama Day. Thanks to all for your support of this day, as the funds raised go directly to support our nominated parish charity, REACH Vietnam. The movie we are watching this afternoon is thanks to our Year 1 and 2 students who have been learning about persuasive text composition and who used their very sound arguments to convince me what a good idea a movie afternoon would be. How could I say no when presented with such persuasive arguments as, "The students have worked hard all term and this will be a reward", "A movie afternoon will help us build relationships across the school" and (my personal favourite), "We think the teachers deserve a break." They wore me down with their convincing presentation!

Semester One reports were sent home with students yesterday afternoon. They reflect students' achievements and progress across numerous areas, and are based on a wealth of collated data and assessment across the first two terms of the year. The reports should complement the ongoing formative learning being shared through the Seesaw platform and will be further supported by the opportunity to discuss your child's learning at Learning Conferences on 24 July. As always, we encourage you to contact your child's teacher at any time if you have any concerns or would like to be involved in class learning activities.

Tomorrow James Flint, myself and a panel of others, including Parish Representative, Greg Carty, and Advisory Council Chair, Michael Timms, will be interviewing three prospective architectural firms for the design of our Stage 2 building works. Following the interview process, the panel will make a recommendation to Fr Linh who will make the final determination. We are hopeful that building work will be able to commence early 2020.

I wish all our staff, students and families a very happy and restful holiday break. It seems hard to comprehend that the first half of our 2019 school year is over. We look forward to seeing students back for Term Three on Tuesday 16 July.

God's blessings for the holiday break,

Susan Ryan
Principal

PRAYER

We thank you Lord, for this term.
For the challenges, the successes, and the mistakes from which we have learnt.
Be with us as we spend our time with family and friends.
Give us strength and courage to do what is right: to be witnesses of our faith. Help us to be kind these holidays, to appreciate what others do for us, to give time and effort to help others.
To be peacemakers in our family.
Keep us safe in our activities; give us good rest and good fun.
Bring us back refreshed and ready for a new term.
We thank you for our classmates, teachers, parents
And a community that cares for us.
May we always be conscious of you in our lives.
Amen

We are after some parent helpers to assist with preparing the students. If you would be interested in helping monitor the students on any of the above dates can you please contact Matthew Curry (matthew.curry@lisieux.catholic.edu.au)

How to keep children entertained during the holidays

Knowing how to keep children amused through the school holidays can sometimes be daunting for parents, especially when things cost so much. Family Lives have come up with some top tips to help take some of the stress out of it, and keep everyone happy without needing to spend a fortune.

Going out and about

During the school holidays, there may be lots going on in your local area that your family can enjoy, often for free. Check the websites of your local council and tourist information centres for local days out, or scan the local papers and community centres to see what's going on in your area. Visit your local library and look for adverts of events. Many libraries hold events such as story time, and arts and crafts days. Libraries are also a great source of activity in themselves, with plenty of books and computers to keep children busy, plus they often have story time for toddlers and parents.

- Check to see if your local council swimming pool offers free or reduced-fee entrance in the school holidays.
- Museums and galleries often have new exhibitions and events running in the summer. Many art galleries put on special events for children and families - this could be just the thing to stimulate your child's artistic streak.
- Check out your local leisure centre - there are plenty of indoor sports and activities they can participate in.

Staying at home

Of course, on some days, you will find yourselves stuck at home, but that doesn't mean anyone has to be bored. You could take the opportunity to spend some time sharing a favourite game or story with your children or, if you want some more inspiration, try some of these activities.

- Arrange a movie day - choose a couple of favourite films, get some popcorn and put your feet up with the kids.
- Get cooking - pick a recipe with the kids, go shopping for ingredients and cook something together that you can enjoy eating afterwards. Depending on your child's age and interest, this could be anything from a simple sponge cake to a mushroom stroganoff! Dig out the puzzles, games and books and give them a go. Some good old-fashioned entertainment can be really fun.
- Have a look in your cupboards and play dress up with your old clothes. Sort through your clothes together and recycle the ones that you never wear and the stuff your little one's grown out of.

- Encourage the kids to put on a play or a magic show. They could even use the dress up clothes and props from around the house. If you have a camera, you can even film it, for great memories.
- Build a den with the kids - if the weather is ok, you could even risk doing this outside! All you need is some boxes or sofa cushions, a few blankets, and a bit of imagination.
- Create a scrapbook together using photos from your family album, or torn from magazines.

The great outdoors (and the garden!)

Sunny days are great for simple activities like picnics and ball games. This can be done as close to home as in the back garden!

- Organise a treasure hunt around your home and garden with clues and treats for the children to find
- Hold your own mini Olympics with games that require little equipment... a sack race with pillowcases, a tug of war with a dressing gown belt! Use your imagination.
- If outside is dry, wrap up and go to the park or a nice walk somewhere quiet with the children with a flask of hot chocolate - sure to go down a treat!
- If you have a tent, you could arrange a camping trip in your garden with the children for one night!
- Kites are great if it is a windy day and they can be bought from bargain shops very cheaply

Making your own fun

Be creative - make things together like greeting cards or use beads to make some jewellery.

- Have an arts and craft day and get some canvas and paints, they can be bought in bargain shops for as little as a pound and use paints or crayons and the kids can hang up their creations in their rooms.
- Make a list of your favourite childhood games - old favourites such as hopscotch, putting on a show or marbles won't cost the earth and your children will enjoy you reminiscing!
- In the evenings get the kids to design a game that you can make the next day - give them ideas to keep it simple such as a paper boat race in the paddling pool or homemade skittles using a tennis ball and empty toilet rolls.
- Have you ever thought about Origami? All you need is paper and instructions which can be found online, will keeps kids amused and they will learn a new skill

Don't try and fill every minute of every day. Encourage your children's imagination and independence - let them play in their rooms or the garden.
